Achieving Safety, Compliance and Security

RPM: Reducing Risk, Providing Protection, Managing Mandates

Statistics confirm that today's trucking industry is safer than ever before. It may be a result of a strong focus on preventative measures and safety training by individual companies, or as a result of tougher regulations at the local, state and federal levels. Whatever the catalyst, the trucking industry is focused on safety now more than ever before.

This year, the New York State Truck Safety and Education Symposium and Safety Exhibition (formerly NYS Truck Safety and Education Conference) presents RPM: Reducing Risk, Providing Protection and Managing Mandates. This 2-day event will provide the latest information on safety issues and compliance initiatives facing the trucking industry today. Juggling mandates and regulations with existing safety operations can be challenging, but sessions such as "CSA 2010: What You Need to Do Today" and "Staying Healthy on the Road," combined with the "Enforcement Roundtable," "Compliance Workshop" and "CDL Workshop" will help attendees navigate the process.

Additionally, a Safety Exhibition has been added to the Symposium, which will take place on the first day of the event, giving attendees a chance to see the latest safety products available, as well as services always in demand. The Agency Resource Fair will take place on the second day of the event. Also, two hours of session time has been added to provide the most comprehensive Symposium possible.

Organized by transportation experts in both the public and private sectors, the Symposium provides a unique opportunity for attendees to ask questions of representatives from agencies that regulate the trucking industry while learning about innovative ways to address the "hot button issues" in today's transportation workplace.
